

Changing the website

A guide for the editors - large print

You work in ONE place: the Google Sheet "Memoria Judaica - Content". Every text on the website comes from it. Nothing you do there can break the website: if something is wrong, the site simply stays as it was.

1. Open the sheet

1. Open your browser (for example Chrome) and sign in with the Memoria Judaica Gmail account.
2. Open drive.google.com and click "Memoria Judaica - Content". Tip: add it to your bookmarks.

2. The tabs at the bottom of the sheet

- Texts - menus, headings, introductions and fixed paragraphs (home page, Projekte, Friedhöfe, cookbook, contact ...). The last column tells you where each text appears.
- Termine - the events on the Aktuelles page and the home page.
- Projects - the list of projects. Project texts - the text of each project page.
- Team - the people. Team texts - career (Werdegang) and publication lists of each person.
- Legal pages - Impressum and Datenschutz.
- How to use - a short reminder. Do not type there.

3. Change a text

1. Open the tab Texts. Find the row (use the last column "Where it appears").
2. Click the cell in column B (German), C (English) or D (Hebrew) and type. If C or D is empty, the German text is shown to English and Hebrew visitors.
3. Never change column A (the technical name). For a new paragraph inside a cell press Alt + Enter (Windows) or Option + Enter (Mac).

- The same three languages exist in every tab: German first, then English, then Hebrew. Write Hebrew normally; the website shows it right to left.
- "Coming Soon..." is the message of a project page that has no text yet. You can change it in the Texts tab (key projectPlaceholder).

4. Add or change an event (tab Termine)

- One row per event. Date from like 25.10.2026; Date to only if it lasts several days; Title; Details (optional extra lines); Show = Yes.
- English or Hebrew title and details are optional (columns F to I).
- To hide an event set Show to No. To remove it, right-click the row number and choose Delete row. Old events disappear by themselves about two weeks after their date.

5. Add a new project

1. Tab Projects: fill a new row. Show = Yes. ID = a short name in small letters without spaces, for example wertheim (never change an ID later). Add the title and a short name in German (English and Hebrew are optional).
2. Location is the place name shown next to the little map pin on the tile. Photo file name is the picture shown on the project page. Photo credit is the line under it, for example "Foto: © Name".
3. Several photos: write the file names one after the other, separated by commas (for example bad-kissingen-01.jpg, bad-kissingen-02.jpg) and set Photo gallery = Yes. They then appear as a picture carousel that changes by itself. The administrator has to upload the picture files first.
4. Tab Project texts: for each heading, paragraph, bullet, caption or author line add one row. Column A = the same ID, column B = the Type (choose from the list), column C = the German text. Rows are shown in the order in which they stand.
5. Exactly one project should have "Show on home page" = Yes: it appears as a tile on the home page. A project without text shows "Coming Soon...".

6. What the Types mean

- Heading - a heading above a paragraph or list.
- Text - a normal paragraph.
- Bullet - one line of a list with a bullet point.
- Caption - a small line of text.

- Author - the names of the authors at the end of a project text. They are shown highlighted in gold.

7. Change career or publication lists (tab Team texts)

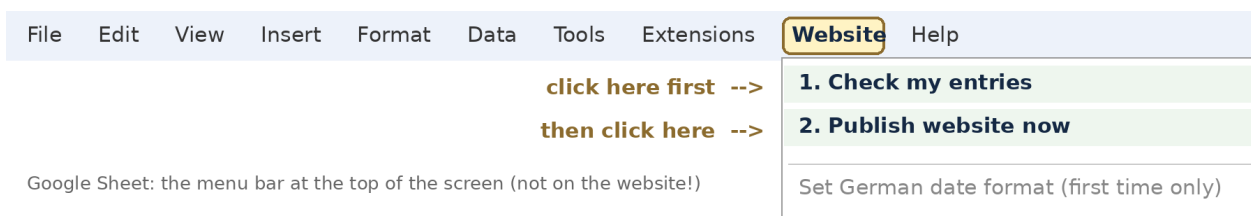

- Each row is one line. Person = name exactly as in the tab Team. Section = Career, Print or Digital. Type = Heading, Text, Bullet, Caption or Author.
- A smaller heading inside the career list, such as "Mitgliedschaften", is a row with Type = Heading. The lines below it are rows with Type = Bullet. Give every list line the Type Bullet, otherwise it has no bullet point.
- To add a publication in the right place: right-click the row number where it belongs and choose "Insert 1 row above", then fill the row.
- Titles of publications stay in their original language, also in the English and Hebrew columns.

8. Links, italics, bold

- Link: write link text - for example epidat. To show the full web address, write it twice: https://example.org.
- Italic: text. Bold: text.
- In the Legal pages write {EMAIL} to insert the e-mail address from the Texts tab automatically.

9. Put your changes on the website

Where is the button? It is NOT on the website. It is a menu inside the Google Sheet, in the grey bar at the very top of the screen, between "Extensions" and "Help". It is called Website (see the picture).

Do not see "Website"? Reload the sheet (F5). Open it in Google Sheets, not in Excel.

Step A. Click Website in the top bar. A short list opens.

Step B. Click 1. Check my entries. A message appears. If it says "All entries look good", go on. If rows are marked red, fix them as the message says, then click "1. Check my entries" again.

Step C. Click Website again, then 2. Publish website now. A message says that publishing has started.

Step D. Wait about 3 minutes. Then open the website and reload the page (Windows: Ctrl + F5, Mac: Command + Shift + R).

Typing in the sheet changes nothing on the website until you click Publish. You can work for days and publish once.

You do not see the menu "Website"? 1) Reload the sheet page (F5) and wait 10 seconds. 2) Make sure the sheet is open in Google Sheets in the browser, not downloaded into Excel. 3) If it is still missing, the script has not been installed yet: please call the administrator.

The first time, Google asks for permission. Click Continue, choose the Memoria account, then "Advanced", then "Go to ... (unsafe)", then Allow. This is normal for your own sheet. Please do it together with the administrator.

10. Messages from the contact form

- Messages that visitors write on the Kontakt page arrive in the Memoria Judaica Gmail inbox, with the visitor's e-mail address as the reply address. Look in the spam folder too during the first weeks.

- Mail sent to info@, mueller@, huettenmeister@ and bondy@memoria-judaica.de is forwarded to the same inbox.

11. Golden rules

- Never rename or delete a tab or a column title (row 1).
- Choose Show, Type and Section from the little lists; do not type something else.
- Pictures (logo, photos, portraits) cannot be changed in the sheet. Ask the administrator to upload them; you only write the file names.
- Never put private information (addresses of private persons, passwords) anywhere in this sheet: all of it is published.

12. If something goes wrong

- Red rows: read the message, fix those cells, publish again.
- A wrong text is on the website: correct it in the sheet and publish again.
- You made a mistake in the sheet: File > Version history > See version history, pick an earlier version and click "Restore this version".
- "Publishing did not start": nothing was changed. Call the administrator.
- A change does not show after 10 minutes: choose Publish again, then reload the page.
